I think it is very important that we go ahead with this project. It has been too long in coming. The government promised a repository for this material and because of objections from a few vocal people it has not been completed. Nuclear plants have had to build storage for their waste because there is no place to put it. Nuclear power is very important as an energy source, it's clean, and helps keeps us from relying on foreign oil products. Unfortunately costs are going to go up as plants have to build places to store their waste because the government has not kept it's promise.
